New agers gather at Bandelier

Some 50 "New Age" believers gathered at Bandelier National Monument's Juniper Campground Amphitheater Tuesday to hear the teachings of a multidimensional being they believed was from the star Zeta Reticuli.

Those who came to the theater listened to the words of the entity "Bashar" (pronounced with the accent on the second syllable), as channeled through mild-mannered Daryl Anka, who is from Los Angeles, Calif.

"Channeling" allows an entity to speak through the corporeal body of the channeler, according to believers.

Anka explained to the group — before the arrival of Bashar — that he has been channeling the entity for 10 years, starting after two broad-daylight sightings of a triangular spaceship in the skies above California. After the sightings, Anka learned, he said, that he had agreed in a former life to channel the entity Bashar, an extraterrestrial being "from our future."

"There is nothing that requires you to believe that Bashar is real,"

Anka said moments before slipping into his channeling state.

All that really matters, Anka said, is the information revealed by the entity.

In front of the crowd, the small man sat in a chair, closed his eyes, and began deep breathing. Suddenly, with the onset of Bashar, Daryl's body began to twitch and spasm, and a roaring noise began to issue from Daryl. The noise, which seemed amplified, but wasn't — since no apparent speakers or microphones were present — then changed to a noise similar to the ebb of ocean waves; and it seemed to be coming from everywhere.

And then Bashar arrived with a spirited greeting to all in attendance.

Bashar's voice sounded a little like Daryl's, but with an Irish brogue mixed with a nasal whine reminiscent of the voices used by Saturday Night Live's "The Coneheads" or alien voices from science fiction B movies of the past.

Bashar spoke of a coming time in which we humans will transform into "fourth density" or "fifth density" beings.

The entity said humans go through phases similar to the "changes in the seasons of your life." The changes in phase progress through stages of infancy, child, adolescent, adult, teacher/teacher, shaman and sage while in human form, Bashar said. After human form, beings also can become spirit guides, archetypes, oversouls, galactic beings, angelic beings, and beings of progressively higher awareness all the way up to a state of "all that is," he said.

The life phases for humans correlate with times of the year, Bashar said, and since fall corresponds with the time of the shaman, he spoke about the shamanic way. "Physical reality is an expansion of your spirit," Bashar said. "There is nothing out there," the entity said, pointing with Daryl's hand toward the audience and into the air. "Everything is in here," Bashar said, pointing to Daryl's heart.

The lesson, then, in a nutshell, was, "Physical reality is nothing more than the shadow of the soul," Bashar said. "The shaman knows that what changes on the outside is the result of a change on the inside."

Therefore, Bashar said, in order to change reality, a being needs to change what is in the soul. The world works according to the said. "If not, you wouldn't be here. If you are where you are, then you belong there."

After the lesson on shamanism and existence, Bashar took questions and answers from the audience. The entity answered the questions, some clearly, others in words clear only to the questioner.

One audience member asked why NASA lost contact with the Mars probe recently. Bashar said the loss of communication came after beings from Bashar's dimension determined that some NASA members were going to withhold important information. The entities decided then that no one should have the information, and they cut communication.

Another asked about the explosive sounds he had been hearing while in the Bandelier area.

"It is the result of clandestine test-

"intention" of the soul, Bashar said, emphasizing the word intention.

In other words, our reality here as human beings corresponds to the intentions of our souls.

"Each and every one of you belongs here in the world," Bashar ing," Bashar said. "That is all that must be said."

The spot on which the communication with Bashar took place will have a lasting impact on the area, Bashar said. After the question and answer session, the entity — still speaking through Daryl — guided the group through a meditative state of visualization intended to make the area into a place for uncanny events. The group visualized a large triangular spaceship coming down into the area that would meld the future selves of the participants with the participants as they were Tuesday afternoon — making them into the multidimensional beings that they truly are.

Whether or not the event actually will happen may or may not be known, but in the words of Bashar: "In order to have the reality you want, you have to move into the state of that reality to get it."
